ISO is the world's leading developer of International Standards and the source of the ISO 9000, a family of standards for quality management systems. The ISO 9001:2008 certification recognizes organizations that can link business objectives with operating effectiveness.

In order to achieve the ISO 9001:2008 certification, CCS GlobalTech completed an extensive review of its Quality Management System by independent auditor, IMSM, a global supplier of ISO Standards.

This achievement is a direct result of the organization's collaborative focus to continually develop and maintain the company's Quality Management System in order to be certified. CCS GlobalTech has demonstrated its commitment to quality and to the continuous improvement of its Management System by successfully achieving this certification.

According to Raminder Singh, President CCS: "Our team has strived to deliver quality products and high levels of customer satisfaction. The ISO 9001:2008 certification confirms that our commitment and efforts to provide quality solutions and services have and will continue to be successful."

Companies that achieve Management System certification to ISO 9001:2008 have demonstrated effective implementation of documentation and records management, top management's commitment to their customers, establishment of clear policy, good planning and implementation, good resource management, efficient process control, measurement and analysis.

"The accreditation of ISO 9001:2008 is reflective of the commitment we have made to our dynamic business intelligence and analytics capabilities and a recognition of our strong focus on customer satisfaction," said Cary Burch, Division President, Helm Analytics.
