CCS Global Tech Launches HELM Analytics™ Division

- CCS Director and HELM Analytics™ Co-Founder Cary Burch leads new venture -

POWAY, CA, June 8, 2009 – CCS Global Tech President Raminder Singh and HELM Analytics™ Co-Founder Cary Burch have teamed up to create a new operating division of CCS Global Tech that will build upon the success of their business analytic integrations and years of business intelligence experience.

With the launch of HELM Analytics™, CCS Global Tech will continue to use its engineering and system design competence to deliver best in class enterprise, compliance and business intelligence solutions to existing and new customers. “The creation of the HELM Analytics™ division enables the company to successfully capitalize on building a strong brand that has proven resources, technology and business intelligence solutions already deployed in financial, mortgage, healthcare, retail and manufacturing industry verticals.” commented Raminder Singh, President of CCS Global Tech.

The combined capabilities of CCS Global Tech will enable HELM Analytics™ to use the newest and most powerful technologies. These powerful capabilities will help companies address rapidly changing compliance requirements, effectively manage complex enterprise solutions and maximize their initiatives by integrating a business intelligence dimension to all solutions.

“Over the next few months HELM Analytics™ will formally announce our powerful solutions focusing on enterprise applications powered by business intelligence. Our products and services offer premium and customized regulatory compliance and business analytic capabilities for complex supply chain business processes.” stated Cary Burch Co-Founder and CEO of HELM Analytics™.

“Given the rapidly changing business analytics industry, we are positioned well to use our technical expertise to bring best-in-class compliance and BI solutions to our customers.” added Singh.

With the creation of HELM Analytics™, CCS Global Tech is expanding its product and solution offering and bringing business analytics within reach of companies of all sizes.
